Pollution closes Belle Isle bayou

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Two residents of Belle Isle subdivision are irate over the extent of pollution in the waterways that grace their environs and are waging a fastpaced, determined effort to correct the situation.

So far-in one month-the men have contacted every county, state and federal agency they know of, seeking help. They say they've gotten little but a run-around in response.

The only concrete action came earlier this week at a Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting, where officials promised to see to it that warning signs are posted in the water. That's to dissuade residents from swimming in the water, eating fish from it, or having any prolonged contact with it whatsoever-even splashes from recreational boating ventures

Both men, Billy Graham and Wayne Adkinson, have

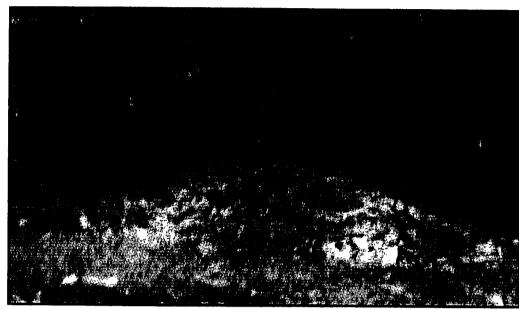

"We could certainly not commend that anyone come into any direct prolonged contact with this water..."

DEQ report on water samples taken from Belle Isle subdivision lived in Belle Isle about seven years. They said Tuesday they had a growing sense that something was foul with the bayou and its canals that run through the subdivision, especially in the hot summer months.

This summer, it became obvious that something horrible was happening, says Graham. Every fish caught by him, his friends and neighbors had blisters or were bleeding. "They were in terrible shape and we quit fishing," he said.

Supers approve appeal

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County supervisors have reluctantly agreed to challenge a recent court ruling giving the school district first shot at a 20-acre tract of land near Stennis Airport.

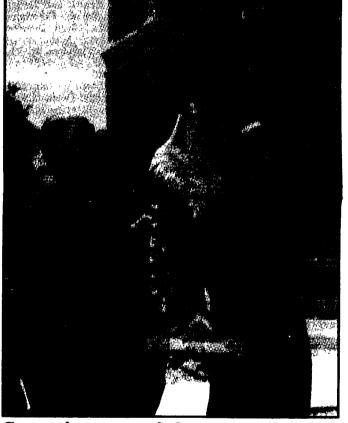

They unanimously authorized the Port and Harbor Commission to file an appeal to the state Supreme Court, but asked P&H Director Hal Walters to try to reopen talks with school board members to persuade them to find an alternate site for a new middle However, School Supt. Terry Randolph said the district will continue to go forward with its plans to clear the tract of land once eminent domain proceedings are settled.

In early August, Circuit Judge John Whitfield denied a petition by the P&H to intervene in the eminent domain proceedings, although the P&H claimed it needs the land to lure an international cargo terminal to Stennis.

Two property owners are also expected to fight the land grab,

P&H president honored

BY BETSY GAGNET

For some people retirement means slowing down the pace and maybe taking to the links or the tennis court. For Bay St. Louis native Dave McDonald. retirement means a hectic schedule of meetings and phone calls that may keep him busier than ever.

McDonald, 74, is the president of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, a commission he has served on since 1974.

He was recently recognized by the state of Mississippi as one of 11 Economic Development Volunteers of the Year.

The award is given by the Mississippi Economic Development Council and recognizes nonprofessional economic developers who have made significant contributions in the economic development of their own communities.

McDonald was nominated by Cindy Vernon of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Hal Walters, Executive Director of the Port and Harbor Commis-Walters sion. said McDonald is invaluable with his knowledge of Port Bienville Park and its history.

"We could not have done as much as we've been able to do with bringing in (plastics manufacturer) Wellman (without McDonald)," said Walters. "He has a feel for the community, what our assets are and what our liabilities are and what we can do about our liabilities.'

Shortly into a conversation with McDonald about the Commission, it becomes obvious that he has a keen knowledge of it history and the role it has played in the county's economic development.

He gives much credit to the early members who were sad-

Bayside residents complain to supers

Years and years of neglect in Bayside Park has come down hard on the shoulders of the current District 1 Supervisor.

One by one, residents came before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday and vented their anger in a tirade that lasted more than an

Through it all, Jeep Ladner, the current supervisor, showed restraint and sympathized with residents over problems that have plagued the subdivision since it was settled more than 30 years ago.

Supervisors before him have heard the same complaints: septic tanks are failing and raw sewerage is being discharged into the ditches; ditches don't drain because they're clogged; drivers are slipping and sliding and dodging pot holes on the dirt roads; and residents feel they're not getting their share back from taxes they pay.

"I've only been in office a year and a half," said Ladner. "I can't perform miracles. But, I appreciate your coming here. You got the attention of everyone, and we'll see what we can do for you

Jimmy Pipkins said he bought his house at 7310 Tunica Street in 1989, and the county has not once graded his street. "They've gone from bad to worse," said Pipkins. He said he has put his house up for sale.

Laurel Kirkwood, who lives at 6163 E. Newton, invited supervisors to come out and tour the area. "Raw sewerage is going everywhere." She said some neighbors are discharging sewerage directly into the ditches, and she recently had to pay someone $297 to unclog her

She threatened to report the problem to the Environmental Protection Agency.

"I'm surprised you haven't had some kind of outbreak yet,' said Kirkwood.

One resident of Hancock Street called streets in Bayside Park "pig trails," and said emergency vehicles can't get into some areas, especially during heavy rains.

Emile Oneto, who lives on West George off Sunflower, told supervisors the ditches in his area have not been cleaned out for the 11 year he's lived there.

Another resident asked supervisors why road crews don't finish what they start. He said crews started cleaning out ditches on the west side of Bayside Drive, but never cleared the east side.

County Road Supt. Dewey Bobinger said he has two ninemen crews to work the north south end of the county, and sometimes they have to be pulled off a job to take care of an emergency somewhere else.

Thomas Guyton said his taxes were raised 150 percent since 1989, "but road maintenance has declined by 200.

District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman told him, "Unfortunately, if we continue to hire more people, your taxes will probably go up.

Council tables animal ordinance

By MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials tabled a proposed animal control ordinance Tuesday, after a roomful of citizens spoke out during a public hearing on its provisions

But council members indicated they plan on major additions to the city's existing two-paragraph code on the subject in the near future.

Public sentiment on the proposed ordinance was mixed -but emotions ran high on the subject of controlling dogs and

What caught the public's attention most was a proposal to require that cats at-large wear collars with rabies tags attached.

One woman branded that proposed law "ridiculous...absolutely absurd." She suggested the city finance a massive spay and neutering program instead of the collar law. Jackie Perniciaro, saying she owns five stray cats, said the majority of people in Bay St. Louis can't afford to comply with the proposed law. She suggested a type of "welfare" fund for spaying neutering poor peoples'

Cats regularly lose their collars, she said, or die from strangulation when they get tangled up because of them. And, she said, citizens would have to fork over $15 to retrieve a pet from "jail," if it's picked up without a collar and tag.

Other speakers agreed that collars are dangerous to cats, and one citizen, Richard Stamm, suggested the city allow cats to be tatooed instead. Council agreed to look into that proposition.

Meanwhile, several speakers bemoaned a proliferation of loose cats in town, saying they constitute a nuisance. One woman who has an ill husband said cats in her yard make so much noise at night, the couple can't sleep in

Dogs were not left out of the spotlight. In Tuesday's discussion. The proposed ordinance has new provisions for impoundment of "vicious" dogs who attack, or pose a threat to humans or other dogs and cats. Several speakers questioned the interpretation of "vicious," as well as what constitutes a "nuisance" that could lead to a dog's impoundment.

"We're talking about (loss of) quality of life," said one resident concerning constant dog-barking in his neighborhood.

In other business Tuesday, council passed an ordinance that would require a city permit before residents could do anything to alter the natural grade of their property or alter the flow of drainage in any way.

City Building Inspector William Carrigee said the permit provision is needed because property owners make extensive changes to property grades, including clearcutting of trees, impacting area drainage. The new law applies to all properties where filling, grading, digging or tree removal is planned.

The law passed with Council president James Rutherford "We're now telling people they can't cut tree their own trees. We're now saying you've got to have a permit to do everything, and I am opposed to

In another matter, council agreed that it would hold an executive (closed) meeting next Tuesday to discuss "personnel." Council member James Thriffiley called for the session, saving he wants to talk to department heads before detailed budgetary decisions are Rutherford said a closed meeting couldn't be held in a "workshop" format, so Tuesday's regular meeting was put in a recess status to reconvene next

Kiln Library advisory group clarifies concerns

Funding for a new Kiln Library was the main topic of discussion at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Kiln Library advisory group The group continues to develop a public awareness cam-paign and push for funding for the library in the county's new budget. Completion of the project would take two years.

Several new developments and concerns have arisen that need to be addressed, according to the group, and they will be providing additional information to the public and the Board of Supervisors.

With a 38 percent increase in circulation figures at the Kiln Library this past year, the group feels that a more dramatic population growth is expected in the next five years.

This will mean that the 1,200 square foot building now housing the Kiln Library will be even more than inadequate for library services. During the library's 1997 summer reading program, more than 130 children were crammed into the facility for a program.

The project was first identified as a need in 1992. The previous Board of Supervisors requested the Library Board of Trustees obtain studies and site analyses. The current Board of Supervisors requested a complete plan for the new facility to consider in the new year's budget. The budget is still under review by the supervisors.

In April, a presentation was made by the library to the supervisors concerning the availability of LSCA grants for a portion of the funds needed to construct and furnish the new library. In August, the supervisors approved application for the grants from the State of Mississippi. Award of those grants is still pending.

Anyone wishing additional information concerning the project should contact one of the Kiln advisory group members. They are Bonnie Adamson, L. J. Breaux, Debbie Cwiklik, Dan Frederick, Sudie Hough and Frank Lee.

Aneurysm

o you know the risks and aneurysm is a permanent bulge of an artery caused by a weakness in the blood vessel wall. A ruptured aneurysm can cause major blood loss, damage to tissues and organs, paralysis, even death. It's easy to see why doctors call the aneurysm a 'ticking time bomb.'

Dr. Michael O'Bryan, a vascular and general surgeon, will conduct an informative seminar covering the signs, symptoms, diagnostic measures and treatment of aneurysms. The talk will be followed by a question/ answer session. Since aneurysms can strike anyone: all are encouraged to attend...but particularly those with high blood pressure or a family history of vascular problems. The seminar will be held Thursday,

By Ellis C. Cuevas

When one covers the news, one never knows just what may be next.

Case in point is the boat explosion Wednesday morning at the intersection of Highway 90 and Carroll Avenue.

It was just lucky no one was killed in the freak destruction of the boat.

Coast Electric employees told me that it shook their building. Maurice Singleton, who was riding his tractor on his family's estate down Carroll Avenue, said he thought the end was coming.

Fire Chief Gavagnie said that when he arrived at the scene, he thought there was a vehicular accident because of the way the area looked. Parts of the boat were scattered all over the area.

Witnesses reported that the cabin was lifted from the explosion as high as the power lines along the highway. Impact was so great that all four tires on the boat trailer were flattened. A backhoe had to be used to lift the boat and trailer for removal.

I am sure the two men in the cab of the truck pulling the boat and trailer must have really felt the impact of seriously hurt in the boat explosion. Boating fires and explosions usually happen in the water or when a boat is being fueled, not when being pulled down the roadway on a trailer.

You have never seen it all in covering news, as there is something else to happen you may have never even thought possible.

So, we can never say that we have seen it all.

The Kiwanis Club-sponsored American Cancer Society's Relay for Life at the Hancock County Walking Track is set for Friday and Saturday, Aug. 22-23.

Relay of Life is a challenging and fun way to raise money for the American Cancer Society and to raise awareness of cancer and the work of the society in fighting this disease, which will touch one in three of us in our lifetime.

Much research has gone into cancer and much more still needs to be done to combat the dreaded disease.

Anyway, the Relay for Life consists of teams of walkers who compete against each other to raise the most money for the cancer society.

The kickoff relay will be at 7 p.m. on Friday and ends

Relay teams will take turns walking at the track during the night, and at the same time there will be a community party atmosphere by team members camping out, enjoying entertainment, food, games and camaraderie.

A luminary ceremony will take place at 9 p.m., when luminary bags are placed in honor of loved ones touched by cancer and in memory of those lost to cancer.

A $10 donation is asked for each luminary, and the public is invited and encouraged to attend.

The Hancock County Kiwanis Club is helping coordinate the Cancer Society benefit.

It is hoped there will be spectators for the event during the night. Jay Lagasse, chairman hopes that many will come out and see what the Relay for Life Walk is all

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bay goes in right direction for architectural services. but other agencies do not

To the Editor:

I would like to commend the City of Bay St. Louis and Mayor Favre for when the city requires architectural services, they not only solicit but hire the services of local architects.

Just in the past 2-3 years, upwards of $80,000 in design fees have been spent on over a million dollars worth of construction. The city understands the value of keeping tax dollars within their community where it is spent supporting families and local businesses.

What the city has provided to home-town design professionals is a drop in the bucket com-pared with what other local public entities are spending elsewhere for design services.

The Hancock County School Board did not solicit any local professionals to provide design services in their building prog-ram When questioned why some of the smaller architectural projects could be offered to local architects, they chose to ignore it and awarded all the work to firms in Jackson and Gulfport. These fees will amount to at least $750,000.

Most recently, it was reported no Hancock County firms solicited work from the Bay-Waveland School Board for the new middle school. The local architects were interested in this project, but they chose to ignore it and make no effort to solicit proposals from anyone

The decision was made by the superintendent, who does not live in our county, to offer this work to a firm from Jackson County. Another fee amounting to close to $330,000.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors, for their juvenile center, did solicit a general request for architectural services. My proposal for this job, which was a joint venture with the architectural firm designing the juvenile center for Harrison County, did not even get an invitation to make a presentation.

This job was awarded to firms from Hattiesburg and Kentucky. Total fees for this project, should it ever by built, will range up to $140,000.

These are just a few of the most recent instances where design work is being offered and given to everyone but those who live and try to work within this community.

There are only a few architects here in Hancock County, but they are just as qualified, educated and licensed to do any of this work as is anyone else. They have completed numerous projects here, including schools.

When public entities are spending our tax dollar, they should have a moral responsibility to first spend our tax dollars locally. The only money from this million dollars worth of design fees that will be spent in our community will be when these out-of-town architects decide to buy lunch when they visit and pick up their checks.

Sincerely, Michael Reeves - AIA Architect Bay St. Louis

Priest saddened by loss of friend Jeremy Guttuso

Dear Editor:

His name was Jeremy Guttuso. He was just 16. He had lots of friends, including me. He was a student at Bay High, and he was a good lad. Recently, he was in a car wreck in Florida. This week Jeremy is dead.

I first met Jeremy when he was just 13. Yet, within three short years Jeremy has gone for good.

I am more than saddened at the thought of not seeing Jeremy again. I hate the thought of not seeing him graduate, to see him come of age, to see him getting married and having his own family or to see. him grow to full manhood, or above all, to see that smile on his face ever again.

Two more people dead in the continuing litany of the horror of too much drinking and dangerous driving. Jeremy lost his life because of that at such an early age. Jeremy should still be with us and we with him and not taken so cruelly and so undeservedly from us.

Jeremy Guttuso was life itself, an all-American boy many of us would undoubtedly say of him, including me. At 16, Jeremy was a gentle boy indeed, a rare commodity among our young these days. He wasn't cynical of the things that many of our young people are today. He trusted in the good values of life. He was open and responsibly free and just a real nice

I only wish Jeremy had said "no" on that fatal day to his friend in Florida for neither I nor Jeremy's family would be wiping our tears away out of our horror and sadness of losing such a nice kid, a nice son, a nice brother, and for me, just a nice young friend. Jeremy, I just cannot stop the tears for you and your family. I'll remember

Voters for gaming needed to show support to officials

To the Editor:

I was born and raised in Hancock County. In my many years here, I have seen the bad times and not many good times within our county financial system.

The only good time I can think of is when the casinos came in and provided revenue to supplement our tax structure.

In 1992, we voted for gambling in Hancock County and the majority vote was "For" gambling.

We have a company that wants to build a casino complex on the north shore of the Bay of Saint Louis which could add a tremendous amount of revenue to our tax dollar intake. Now to the point of this message.

We have a group who has opposed this development from every step through the procedure and have lost. Their latest bottle log complaint is the water is not deep enough.

Here is what I am laying on you, the people, who voted for want roads, better schools, less taxes, sewerage system. "To Save the Bay," is is time that the "Majority Spoke Out.

Don't let Jim McArthur be the only one to oppose these people. Write or call the Mississippi Gaming Commission, your county and state representatives, your governor, chancery judges, and any other office needed for the approval of this issue.

Don't let the minority rule out what you voted for as a majority.

Welfare reform not an easy task

This may come as a shock. but over 54 percent of adults on welfare rolls in Mississippi have at least a 12th grade education.

Here are the numbers compiled by the Mississippi Department of Human Services:

Some College — 3,464 (15%) High School or GED - 9,1345

Grades 9- 12 - 8,890 (37%) Below Grade 9 - 2,154 (9%) These 23,863 adults are enrolled in the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program, which is the new name for welfare which was coined by the welfare reform act.

The state is trying to meet federal mandates to reduce the number of cases to 26,000 by the year 2002. And it's frustrating when officials see people with diplomas holding their hands out for a public dole. But a degree doesn't guarantee that the holder has skills that will qualify for a job. Education is just one factor.

Lack of transportation, child care and availability of jobs in some rural areas are major complications to moving people from welfare to work. And some officials fear that some recipients have been picking up government checks for so long that they view welfare as an entitlement.

Mississippi has taken a realistic look at the hurdles and is moving aggressively to design and implement plans that will change welfare as we have known it.

There's a lot to do. Nobody said it would be easy.

Blue Meadow resident says noise ordinance neded now My husband and I are quiet

Dear Editor:

The area in which I live is one in which you can't get any rest at night because of the noise.

If you try to enjoy sleeping in till 8 a.m. on your days off you can't. In spite of a leash law, dogs continue to run the streets and bark all hours of the day and night and early morning.

People continue to move out to the county — people who love to build bondfires in their back yard, partying, drinking and chopping wood till 3 and 4 in the morning.

Where are they when the people that live around them must get up at 5 a.m. to go to work? In bed, sleeping till 1 in the afternoon!

There are people in the county who choose to do their construction work after 12 in the morning, dragging out their hammers and saws, and those who climb on their roofs at 10 at night to rake their roof. Recently, another fine family began building their dream house in the county. I was to go in for surgery, so I asked them if they could possibly start later, at 8 in the morning. The answer - no as a matter of fact they began showing up at 5:30 in the morning, beginning construction at 6 in the morning.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

The Hancock County Historical Society announces the donation of an extensive collection of Native American artifacts given by Monique Walden Chaix in memory of her late father, Wm. Monte Walden, who was an amateur archeologist. Many of the artifacts are from the Poverty Point Culture which had satellite settlements in Hancock County. Chaix and her mother, Pat Walden, will make the presentation today at the society luncheon meeting. The public is invited to view the collection at the society's Kate Lobrano House in Bay St. Louis.

SCHOOL'S IN

Yes, our gang has started the school year in Diamondhead for the 1997-98 year. Diamondhead Academy announces, "for the finest start in life," grades pre-school through sixth have extended days available, accredited by the Mississippi Private School Association.

The Diamondhead Baptist Church Child Development is beginning its third year of caring for the babies and preschool children of the Diamondhead community.

And the Diamondhead Community Church's Little School offers quality Christian learning for 3- and 4-year-olds. All the facilities are such an asset to our growing community with so many young families.

Remember to drive carefully, and watch out for our children.

BUSY LIONS

This past Tuesday at the Diamondhead Lions Club social meeting, Dr. Jim Schrock, former district governor, pre-sented a very informative video titled "Through Danny's Eyes," a dramatic and emotionally moving account of the way one donor of eyes, bones and tissue continues to benefit others.

It has meant so much to Danny's widow, Ann Neal, to walking and functioning being walking and functioning being cause her husband cared enough to sign a donor card that made all this possible.

GARDEN CLUB

The Diamondhead Garden Club will participate in a Hancock County Cleanup Sept. 20. Volunteers will pick up trash on the beach and along roads within the county.

Details, along with a sign-up sheet, will be provided at the garden club's Sept. 17 meeting.

Staff development seminar

On Aug. 12, a staff develop ment seminar was held at St. Stanislaus for all of the Catholic secondary schools along the Coast.

Seminar participants included Mercy Cross, Our Lady Academy, Resurrection, St. John and St. Stanislaus.

The seminar focused on such topics as technology, performance based assessment and critical thinking.

One of the seminar presenters, Regina Haney of the National Catholic Educational Association based in Washington, D.C., said teachers today need to "re-think education."

Haney also went on to incorporate Thornburg educational philosophy revolving around collaboration, communication and creativity saying the future of Catholic education is being integrated with technology. Our students need to be technology fluent. Critical Thinking presenter, Sr. Mary Beth Kubera, principal at St. Jude High School in Montgomery, went on to say, "As teachers, children need us, and not every child needs us the same way.

Teacher scholarships available

Scholarships are available for educators who want to participate in Project Marine Discovery's "Wetlands and Maritime Forest" and "Beach and Barrier Islands" teacher mini-camps.

The camps, sponsored by the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium and the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory (GCRL) are offered to elementary, middle and high school teachers from Gulf Coast states.

The "Beach and Barrier Island" mini-camp is set for Sept. 24-26. The program offers an opportunity for teachers to lern first-hand about Northern Gulf of Mexico environments of beach, salt marsh, barrier islands and estuarine and Gulf waters. The "Wetlands and Maritime Forest" mini-camp is set for Oct. 1-3. The program covers hands-on exploration of the world of water through the plants that signal habitat changes in the cycle from fresh to brackish to saltwater.

Classes will be conducted at the J. L. Scott Marine Education Center in Biloxi with lodging at the GCRL dormitory in Ocean Springs.

A $60 non-refundable registration fee is due with the application. The teacher's school district is eligible for reimbursement of the registration fee through the Dwight D. Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Act.

A grant from the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium will pay for the remaining costs which include lodging, food, materials and additional fees.

The cabin and deck of the craft went flying high into the sky as it was towed by a pickup driven by David Hebert, 41, of Houma, La., said Bay Fire Chief Bobby Gavagnie.

The craft was owned by Ronald Kilgen, a Fishery Scientist and Environmental Consultant, and was traveling East on Highway 90, after a fueling stop at the Shell Service at Main Street, Police Chief Frank McNeil said.

The accident occurred at the 500 block of Highway 90 (at Carroll and Ulman Avenues) in the East lane blocking traffic from about 8:12 a.m. until 10:45

Gavagnie said, "The gas tank was found to be full and had sprung a leak close to the top.

Firefighters had to drain the gas below the leak before the craft, and trailer could be removed.

"We feel furnes caused the exlosion, but do not know what ignited them. There was a small fire in the bilges of the boat which was still on the trailer and also the vent tube was burning when firefighters arrived at the scene," Gavagnie added

McNeil said, "Hebert, the truck's driver who was questioned by Patrolman Cliffort Malley, reported he heard a noise, and the trailer began to drag, so he stopped on the shoulder of the highway."

The blast was so strong it blew all four tires on the trailer. There was also another person in the pickup, fire officials said.

Both Gavagnie and McNeil were amazed that no one was injured because of the force of the explosion. Some Coast Electric employees at the scene reported the blast could be felt in their building.

Gavagnie said, there was a AMR crew parked at the service station across the highway who reported the cabin and deck was hurled as high as the power.

"When I arrived at the scene, I thought sure other vehicles were involved in the accident because of all the debris around," Gavagnie added.

McNeil said, he had at least four officers on the scene for the two and a half hour period diverting east-bound traffic around the area until it was cleared.

The boat, 21 ft. in length, had a 225 hp engine, and damages were estimated at $15,000, McNeil said.

In addition to firefighters and police, Bay St. Louis Public Works employees assisted by bringing sand to contain the gas spill and a backhoe to help remove the trailer and boat from the highway.

Stennis Education Office awarded

The Education Office at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center recently received its fourth Hammer Award from Vice President Al Gore's National Performance Review Office.

The award was received in conjunction with the Fulton-Montgomery Education Initiative (FMEI) in Johnstown, N.Y. The FMEI is a NASA replication of the Tri-State Education Initiative (TSEI) in Iuka, Miss.

The TSEI is a cooperative effort between NASA and state, local and other federal agencies that represent NASA's model for national education reform. The initiative was organized to work cooperatively to enhance and broaden the capabilities of the participating education systems within the three-state area within a 50-mile radius of Iuka, Miss., which includes parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The Hammer Award is presented to teams of federal employees who have made significant contributions in suppost of rainventing experiment princi-ples. The aware consisted of a simple carpenter's hammer mounted in an aluminum frame along with a red, white and blue ribbon and a hand-written note from the Vice President. The inexpensive hammer symbolizes the building of a superior government that works better while costing less.

gan sorting out Class I rubbish, The rubbish is stored temporarily in a 40-yard rolloff container, then transported to Trans-American's Central landfill in McNeil by Boudin's Waste and Recycling, the district's trash hauler. Dumping fees at McNeil, including transportation amount to $175 a load.

Figures showed that in the first three weeks of operation—July 25, through August 13—a little over 237 tons or 25 loads were taken to Central at a charge of $8300. "And, another estimated 10 to 20 loads remain on the ground," said Fillingame.

Fillingame said, "There is no way we can afford to go on like this."

Trans-American's president Ed Fox said establishment of dumping fees would probably reduce the waste stream at Standard, especially discouraging out of county or out of state haulers.

But, he said, spring and summer are the peak season for builders and housing repairs, and he estimated at least half of the rubbish coming into Standard is from homeowners who are doing repairs.

Under the new fee schedule, individual residents would still not be charged, Fox said, and he said Trans-American would rebate to the District most of the revenues from Hancock County commercial haulers.

Fillingame said the District is paying $16.50 a ton to dump rubbish at the Central Landfill, the same charge applied to haulers dumping household garbage. He said dumping fees would be cheaper if the rubbish was taken to a nearby rubbish site instead.

John Diamond, who owns Diamond Disposal Inc., a rubbish site outisde of Perkinston, attended the meeting, and said he might be interested in submitting a bid.

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand asked the District and Trans-American to post signs at the entrance of Standard advertising the new fees, to inform haulers by flyers, and to send letters to building contractors informing them of the new fee schedules.

In the meantime, District commissioners instructed Johnson to come up with estimates on what it might cost to lay down a liner and open up a one and a half-acre cell on land near the entrance to Standard so the county might once again be able to accept Class I rubbish. The District must also receive permission from the State Department of Environmental Quality in order to upgrade the facility to accept Class I rubbish.

After the 3-0 vote to establish the new fee schedule, the District also heard from Curtis Johnson, representing Mississippi Pumping Co.

Johnson has a 120-acre rubbish site already permitted in Hancock County off Fire Tower Road, but didn't offer to accept the county's rubbish.

He came to protest recent actions by supervisors who want to restrict the area in the buffer zone where a future landfill can be located.

Johnson had offered to expand his site to 600 acres, and wants to ask DEQ to upgrade his permit so he can put in a sanitary landfill that can accept Hancock county's household garbage now being transported to the Pecan Grove facility in Harrison County.

Johnson complained that the three-quarter mile circular ban around the buffer zone recently suggested by supervisors virtually eliminates him from competition.

"I'm mad as hell," Johnson told the Echo later. "And, I plan to give them (supervisors) hell about it."

Johnson also alleged at the

meeting that "there are five to six rubbish sites now operating illegally in Hancock County.

The District's consultant, Bill Johnson (no kin) was instructed to tour the alleged sites, and report back to the District.

"Johnson also informed the District that DEQ has some monies available to pay half the salary in the event the District wants to hire an environmental enforcement officer to monitor illegal dump sites.

He said Sheriff Ronnie Peterson has offered to hire the man as a deputy, and put him on his payroll in the event the District wants to go forward and seek the funds.

Before adjourning, the District heard from Jo Ann Casey about plans underway for the county's Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day.

The special collection is scheduled at the Kmart Shopping Center in Waveland from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27.
The District plans to advertise the event, and the Echo plans advance stories informing citizens about what they can dump during the special collection day.

Р&Н

nald, explaining such an accomplishment required not only construction, but certification.

Upon his taking a position on the Commisssion, McDonald said the mission was to attract businesses to the port.

"The big task was to get businesses, and we wanted stable companies," he said.

In 1974, a big step was taken when the Commission signed an option for an approximately 225-acre site with Borg Warner, a huge plastics company, to locate a plant in Port Bienville.

At the time Borg Warner was trying to decide between two sites and it wasn't until 1979 that Port Bienville was chosen.

"We felt like, there's our flagship," said McDonald. "Once we got them in here, others would come."

The Borg Warner plant created construction jobs for over a year, and then 100-150 permanent high paying technology type jobs, which is exactly what McDonald said the commisssion was trying to accomplish.

"(The commission) is trying to create a stablilized economy with employment of local people," he said, explaining that the type of jobs created is an important consideration.

"We used to have a fair labor market around here for low level jobs and then for upper level jobs," he said. "What we needed was a level of jobs, technical type jobs, where you needed education, but not a lot of advanced degrees.

"If you grew up in the 1930s, this was an area where the economy was feast or famine. In the summer it boomed and there was more work than could be handled, and in the winter, when all of the city people went back to New Orleans, there wasn't enough work."

Consequently, one of the aims of the commission was to create jobs which would be year-round and not seasonal.

Over the years, the Port has attracted several other large companies.

Borg Warner was eventually sold to GE Plastics. Calgon Carbon, Halter Marine and Atlas Powder have also come on board.

The biggest achievement by far was the landing of the Wellman plastics plant, which will represent a $330 million investment. It will also represent a great catalyst for attracting future business Wellman's investment is eventually expected to top the $1 billion mark.

In addition to providing jobs, the growth of the industrial park benefits local businesses which provide supplies and services to the plants.

McDonald has been part of the local business community his entire life, having worked during high school in his grandfather's business, W. A. McDonald and Sons.

In the beginning, in addition to building supplies, the business included a wholesale grocery which sold to the small "mom and pop" corner stores located in every neighborhood.

ited in every neighborhood.

McDonald explained the wholesaler bought groceries and other items in large quantites, and then sold them to the smaller stores which had a need of only a few items at a time.

"We had salesmen who went as far as Biloxi," he said. Another item sold in addition to groceries was animal feed.

"(McDonald's) always had animal feed," McDonald explained. "That was a big item.
Every family had an animal (of some sort)."

After high school, McDonald went to Mississippi State and volunteered in the United States Army following graduation.

He went to infantry school at Ft. Benning, Ga., graduating in 1943 as a Second Lieutenant. It was then he married his wife, Lucy with whom he recently celebrated his 54th wedding anniversary.

McDonald was a member of the 84th Infantry and served in Europe, eventually reaching the rank of Captain. He recalled celebrating his 22nd birthday in an orchard in Holland, where he feasted on the present his wife had sent him, which was a box of his favorite corn flakes and a can of Pet milk.

Following his military career, McDonald returned to work in the family business. While in the army, his grandfather died, and the business was being run by McDonald's father, C. C. McDonald, and his uncle John McDonald.

In 1958, he formed his own company, Dave McDonald, Inc., a building material company.

The business was in operation in the time following Hurricane Camille when demand for building supplies was immense.

"We had to close the doors every day at 2 p.m., just so we could fill the orders," said McDonald, recalling that customers would knock on the doors after the "Closed" sign went up because they could see the employees still in the store working. "I finally had to get a lady to make some drapes to cover the door."

During the years the building supply operated, McDonald began to develop an interest in floor coverings, which were growing in popularity.

"I had gotten more and more interested in floor work because almost every house built after the mid 1950s was built on concrete slab. That was brand new," he explained. "It made a major change in house building. Now, every house didn't have a wood floor."

The flooring section of his business continued to grow and eventually developed so much that the other parts of the business were sold off and McDonald solely did floor work until he retired in 1990.

Prior to his retirement, County Supervisor James Travirca asked McDonald to serve on the Port and Harbor Commisssion, which had been created in 1963.

In 1974, McDonald began what has become over 20 years of service with the commission. Since Travirca, he has been reappointed to the commission by Supervisors Mike Ladner and Philip Moran.

McDonald is quick to give credit for the success of Port Bienville to those who have worked hard to make it happen, both past and present.

"I give a lot of credit for early management and development of our industrial park to one of the early directors, Wilson Webre," he said. "Webre did not have any formal training in economic development work, but he was a native of the county and he had an excellent ability to dealwith businesses interested in putting a plant in this area.

"He also put in place many of the operating procedures which we still follow, even though he retired in 1982 after serving as executive director for 10 years."

There is also praise for the current executive director, Hal Walters.

"We are very fortunate to

"We are very fortunate to have (Walters), who is probably the most experienced industrial recruiter in the state of Mississippi."

So what does the future hold for the Port and Harbor Commission and its president?

McDonald said he absolutely sees the port continuing to grow, noting that "success breeds success." Port Bienville has become the largest fully developed industrial park in the state of Mississippi with the recent acquisitin of 1,200 acres. It's accessible by rail and water, and now totals some 3,600 acres.

Additionally, the Port & Harbor has developed Stennis International Airport, which adds another asset to the future development of the county.

For himself, McDonald said he will continue to serve on the Commission, if appointed, as long as he feels he is making a satisfactory contribution.

"I was raised in a family business and business is second nature to me and I enjoy the work of the Port and Harbor Commission," he said.

That less begtiet me of ration

That less hectic type of retirement may just have to wait.

Lego exhibit extended

For those who thought they had missed the opportunity to see the huge Lego "Travel in Space" World Show now on display at the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center, an extra week has been added to the display's original schedule.

Visitors to the space center now have until Sept. 1 to see the traveling exhibit that has been viewed by more than 52,000 people since its arrival.

After viewing the displays, children have an opportunity to build their own Lego space vehicles in the center's "Space Believe" hands-on exhibit area.

Like choo-choo trains and rocking chairs.

At NorthShore Regional Medical Center, we realize that going to the hospital can be a frightening experience for children. That's why our emergency room features a special Kid's Room. This room has colorful wallpaper, a TV and VCR for children's movies, rocking chairs—things that can make a parent and child feel more at ease. Because we understand that while no one wants to spend time in a hospital, we can certainly try to make their stay as comfortable as possible.

Casino Magic reports July revenue growth

Casino Magic Corp. (Nasdaq: CMAG) reported consolidated net revenues of $22.6 million for the month ended July 31, 1997, an increase of $7.7 million or 51.2 percent compared with $14.9 million net revenues for the same period in 1996.

Revenues from the Casino Magic's Bossier City casino, which was not in operation during July of 1996, accounted for $7.9 million.

Consolidated earnings for Casino Magic before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") was $5.6 million in July, 1997 of which $1.7 million was contributed by Casino Magic's Bossier City casino. This compares with $3.8 million for the same period in 1996, which included $0.4 million in royalty and managements fees from the Greek operations which were sold during

For July, net income was $1.0

Ayers joins ERA Realty

Jane Ayers has joined Era Bayshore Realty as a sales associate, according to Herb Dubuisson, member broker of the Waveland real estate company.

Ayers was recognized as employee of the year at Frenchy Homes, one of the largest home builders and realty companies in the Atlanta area. She has a background in customer service, office administration and management, as well as computer networking and programming.

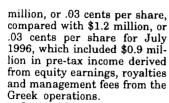

'Customer satisfaction has always been my first priority, says Ayers.

"By joining a firm which is af-filiated with the ERA Real Estate Network, with member brokers in all 50 states, Ayers will be able to offer home buyers and sellers a wide variety of products and services," Dubuisson

These include home warranty plans for buyers and sellers; the ERA Sellers Security Plan under which ERA can agree to buy a client's home; relocation counseling; and the ERA Electronic Home Selling Network -- a computer database displaying color photos and detailed descriptions of 50,000 ERA home listings from across the country.

The ERA Real Estate Network is comprised of franchisees of ERA Franchise Systems Inc. based in Parsippany, N.J., which has built its reputation upon being 'First In Service' and 'First In Customer Satisfaction.' Each ERA office is independently owned and operated.

Financial Advice submitted by Basil Kennedy Union Planters Bank

Retiring early

What does it take if you want to retire early, say at age 55? According to most financial planners, you have to save like crazy, invest aggressively, and cut down on spending. The amount you must save annually is an individual issue, and depends on how much you think you'll need to retire early.

One financial planner who looked at what it takes to retire at age 55 found that if you saved 20 percent of your pretax salary for 25 years you would be able to maintain your pre-retirement standard of living. This is especially true for people who can count on Social Security. If you can't, saving 20 percent for 25 years might not cut it.

Investing aggressively generally means a substantial commitment to stocks. To illustrate: saving $10,000 a year and investing in a portfolio with a hefty chunk of stocks returning 9 percent a year for 25 years would end up with $847,000.

Saving the same amount for the same number of years, but with a portfolio that earned 7 percent, your nest egg would be $632,500.

The third requirement, spending less may be the easiest to meet, although it's still a formidable challenge if you have a hefty mortgage and children who plan on going to college.

As a practical matter, planners say most people can't meet all three requirements. But that's no reason they should give up trying. To the extent people make a concerted effort to do as much as they can, it is possible to retire early, if not at 55, then maybe not too many

Casino employees appear before gaming commission

Grand Casino Gulfport has sent two of its associates to appear before the National Gambling Impact Study Commission in Washington, D.C. and share their individual experiences on how the employment opportunities in the gaming in-dustry have benefited their Cheryl Lowell, human resources director, and Chris Necaise, uniforms supervisor, appeared before the commission Aug. 19 and 20.

Lowell, a Mississippi Gulf Coast native, began her professional life as a secretary in a non-profit organization. She held various positions in the public and private sector prior to moving to the gaming industry in 1992.

Since joining Grand Casino Gulfport in 1993, Lowell's career opportunities have increased as she has been promoted from benefits administrator to human resources manager to her current position as human resources director. Active in the community, Lowell serves on the board of Mercy Housing and Human Development and is vice president of the Gulfport chapter of the NAACP. She is also a volunteer and mentor for Junior Achievement's in-school program.

Necaise, also a life-long resident of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, is a single parent who worked at several minimalpaying jobs for over 10 years. After the birth of her son, Necaise required help from public assistance programs as none of the jobs she held paid enough for adequate support.

In April 1993, Necaise was hired by Grand Casino Gulfport as lead uniform clerk and has since been promoted to uniforms supervisor. Her position has afforded her many opportunities, including the ability to purchase her own home and vehicle. In fall 1997, Necaise will begin taking college classes under Grand Casinos tuition reimbursement program.

Rob Wyre, Grand Casino Gulfport general manager, said, "Cheryl and Chris are just two examples of the many associates whose lives have been enhanced by the employment opportunities and positive benefits available in the gaming industry.

"Grand Casino Gulfport is proud to have them represent us at these hearings and share their experiences with the commission.'

The public comment section of the meeting was the last portion of the assemblage. The first meeting of the commission was held in late June.

Enacted as law by both the President and Congress, the nine-member commission has been charged with studying social and economic impacts of gaming in the United States.

Starting from June 1997, the commission has two years to study various aspects of the industry including casino gaming, lotteries, pari-mutuels, Indian gaming and Internet gaming.

A group of top realtors recently participated in the Floyd Wickman "Sweathogs" Program, an intense 11-week training course held in New Orleans exclusively for Latter & Blum agents.

The program featured one of the top speakers in the personal development industry, Steven Poscente, a Master Sweathogs Trainer of the Year and member of the National Speakers Association.

Program awards for special achievement were presented to Ched Edler for Top Overall Producer with 62 transcations and Murdock Richard of the Marrero office for Dollar Volume. Top Lister with 33 transactions was Ched Edler. The Shining Star Award for the most improved went to Karen Gaccetta of the Mandeville office, with honorable mentions going to Rey Reguerira from the Lakefront branch, Murdock Richard and Dolly Boudreaux from Metairie.

Team awards were presented to The Producers, a team led by Melvin Rushing of the Mandeville office for having the most transactions. "On-Track" for having 120 or more listings were Rey Reguerira, Murdock Richard, Johnette Steele and Lisa Knighten, both from the Marrero office, Joyce Reed from the Kenner branch, Robbie Asher from Bay St. Louis, Danna Kosztolanyi and Ched Edler, both of the LaPlace

Whitney merger completed

First National Bank of Houma has completed its merger into Whitney National Bank and will begin operating under the Whitney name effective immediately. New Whitney signs are being installed at the bank's four branches in Houma and the branch in Chauvin, La.

A Whitney clock will be erected at the bank's Main Street branch in Houma. The clock has been a Whitney tradition since the first one was installed at the bank's headquarters on St. Charles Avenue in 1928. The clock is incorporated into the Whitney's logo and appears on the bank's signs.

All Witney products will be available in the former First National branches. Customers will be able to bank with the Whitney throughout the Gulf South from Lafayette, La. to Pensacola, Fla.

Terrebonne Parish customers can continue to use their First National Bank of Houma checks and other account documents until they re-order. They will then be replaced with Whitney documents.

Jerome H. Mire, a longtime Houma resident and First National president, has been appointed city president for Houma and will continue to head the bank's operations in Terrebonne Parish.

On Feb. 28, 1997, First National Bankshares Inc., the parent company of First National Bank of Houma, merged with Whitney Holding Corporation, the parent company of Whitney National Bank. The merger of the two banks completes the process.

Whitney Holding Corporation, whose stock is traded on the NASDAQ exchange (WTNY), is the holding company for wholly owned banking subsidiaries in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. The Whitney now operates over 100 banking locations in the four-state Gulf Coast region, including southern Louisiana, the coastal region of Mississippi, Mobile, Montgomery and the Alabama Gulf Coast region, and the Pensacola area of Florida.

The Whitney, which has been in continuous operation since 1883, currently has assets of approximately $4.2 billion.

Pollution

He and his neighbor, Adkinson, then turned to the state Department of Environmental Quality for help, and have just received the results of water quality testing that the state conducted. "Gee whiz, we're way worse off than we thought," Graham said of the report.

DEQ's assessment warns that the levels of fecal coliform bacteria are so high that "we could certainly not recommend that anyone come into any direct prolonged contact with this water.

Glenn L. Odom, DEQ's chief of Municipal Permit Compliance Branch, said in his letter to the men that the bacteria results found from DEQ testing ranged from 300 to 2,400 colonies per 100 milliliters (ml) of sample. State guidelines allow no more than 200 colonies per 1,000 ml for waters used for recreation. For fishing and boating, the limit is 1,000 colonies per 100 ml, and for domestic water supplies, fewer than 2,000 colonies per 100 ml.

Graham and Adkinson said the numbers are, frankly, horrifying. The technician who took the samples asked for alcohol to clean his hands afterwards.

Odom told the residents that fecal coliform is found naturally from the presence of warm blooded animals, particularly just

"However, our visual observation of direct (sewage) discharges from residences in the area, along with our knowledge of the use of septic tanks throughout the community would certainly indicate that a major reason for the high bacteria counts in this circumstance is the result of inadequately treated human wastewater discharging into the

"Wastewater of this type typically contains bacteria which can cause adverse health effects We could certainly not recommend that anyone come into any direct prolonged contact with this water. Incidental contact should not cause serious problems," Odom

He suggested Graham and Adkinson get in touch with the county Health Department "for additional precautions associated health effects.'

Odom said his department has no governmental body to hold responsible for the conditions in Bayou Belle. "We would employee, said his job has taken encourage the community to him around the globe -- "I have its efforts to seek available assistance to organize implement corrective measures," said Odom.

That's when the men called the Health Department and were told, they said, that the problem is one for DEQ to tackle. "I said at least post signs warning people,." said Adkinson of his talks with the Health Department. He said he met with refusal at that level and turned to the Board of Supervisors

The board Monday agreed to request the Health Department put signs up in the water warning of its polluted state. No Fishing. No

"Bass fishermen come in every day and fish. I can see them off my porch," said Graham. "One of our neighbors catches crabs in there -and eats them!" he added.

Odom said in an interview that eating fish from the waters shouldn't be a health problem, although DEQ recommends that nobody swim in the waters. Graham and Atkinson say they numbers provided by DEQ itself show that eating fish from the waters is hazardous.

The two men have fired off telephone calls to regional and national Environmental Protection Agency officials, in addition to contacts with county and state officials. So far, they have gotten no definitive acceptance of responsibility by any agency.

Graham said one EPA official warned him, after hearing the test results: "Don't even consider getting around this water, much less getting in it."

Belle Isle subdivision is a neighboring community to Pearlington, where county wastewater district officials met opposition when the district proposed a sewer collection

The district dropped its plans for that system, although officials have readily admitted for years that septic tank systems in that area simply cannot function properly, because the water table is too high.

Making the matter worse for much of the area is the fact that it's fairly common for residents to bypass septic systems altogether, and run sewer pipes directly into the ground, ditches or nearby waterways. Many dwellers have had shallow water wells installed near failed septic tank systems.

Graham said when he bought his home, he was totally unaware of the troubled waters that are a result of these conditions in Belle Adkinson had notice of the problem before he bought, but installed a sewage treatment system on his property as recommended by the Health

Graham, a Fluor Daniel Co. seen Third World countries with better conditions than us "His company is building the Wellman plant at Port Bienville nearby

The two men have suggested ways to address the problem, short of installing what many area residents think is a too-costly public sewer system involving grinder pumps.

A conduit for wastewater could be built in the existing canal, carrying the wastewater to a central settling pond, for instance. That would require possibly two lift stations, and could include the entire Pearlington community, they said.

Or, perhaps Wellman -- the giant plastics industry that's locating in Hancock County, could be convinced to increase the size of its sewer treatment plant, to accommodate the residential community. Alternatively, if the Port and Harbor Commission abandons its own treatment plant. to tie into Wellman's, the community could use the former Port and Harbor facility, they

The Belle Isle duo became so upset over the situation last month that they put out fliers hoping to drum up public attention. And they are undeterred by the apparent lack of action at the county, state and federal level.

"I was told (by one official) that I should quit whining and get involved. He just doesn't know how involved I am." said Adkinson. We're going to get involved alright. I will do whatever it takes, if I have to do it until I die."

Graham notes that heavy rains back up bayou waters onto property, leaving polluted solid material behind, Children run bare-footed over it. People eat sick fish, and drink from shallow wells, he said. And the air carries the ground pollutants as well, he added.

"I don't know why we haven't had an epidemic out there," said Graham. "We're not going to let (the issue) go to sleep. ... Sewage and bad water make people sick. Here I am living 30 feet from a huge sewer canal."

The men plan to set a meeting with environmental and health officials from the county, state and federal level to air the problem and potential solutions. "We will have all these people come in one room and maybe we can figure out what we can do. Somebody has got to ștand up and responsibility," said Graham.

DEQ officials say when fecal coliform bacteria is entered into waters, it may have been contaminated by pathogens or disease-producing bacteria or viruses. "Some waterborne pathogenic diseases include typhoid fever, viral and bacterial gastroentertis and Hepatis A.

"The presence of fecal contamination is an indicator that a potential health risk exists for individuals exposed to this water," Graham and Adkinson were told in one memorandum from Mississippi state officials.

Before supervisors voted, P&H Executive Director Hal Walters told them, "The future of the airport hangs in the balance, along with the future of economic development in Hancock County.

Walters did not identify the developer, but said Stennis is one of three sites being looked at "for a very large project." He said putting the middle school next to the high school would rule out further consideration by the potential developer.

Walter's remarks led District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour to sav he would feel better about going ahead with the appeal if a developer would come forward.

He asked board attorney Gerald Gex to speculate on when the Supreme Court might hear the appeal. "I don't want to see this thing get bogged down,' said Seymour. Gex estimated it might be 10 to 12 months before the high court would hear the appeal.

Board President Philip Moran also told Walters, "Go to the developer. Have him step up to the plate. Folks need to see the master plan." He said the developer may be able to to buy out the high school, voc-tech center and athletic facilities already in place, but the price might be too high if the middle school is also built there.

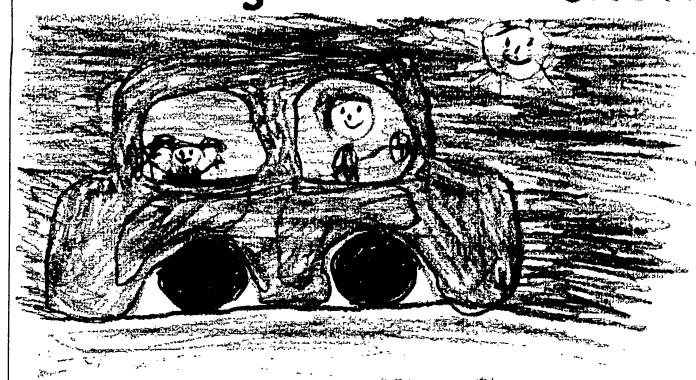

Walters said the Mississippi Department of Transportation is helping the P&H put together a master marketing plan, which should be completed within six

McPhail update

Evelyn McPhail is presently receiving medical rehabilitation treatment at Mississippi Methodist Rehabilitation Center (MMRC) for impairments resulting from a severe traumatic brain injury sustained May Stuart A. Yablon, MD, MMRC director of the brain injury program, issued the following update on McPhail on Tuesday.

"Following medical stabiliza-tion at Methodist Hospital in Hattiesburg, she was transferred to MMRC June 18.

"At the time of her admission to MMRC, she had already demonstrated evidence of limited awareness of her environment, as manifested by inconsistent but reproducible head turning and eyegaze to auditory and visual stimuli and following of isolated commands. "Four days after her admission to MMRC, she gave several verbal responses, which were also observed on the next day. Reports of these verbal responses received media attention, tough at no time during her recovery were these responses observed consistently.

"Mrs. McPhail's hospital course has been most notably complicated by development of posttraumatic hydrocephalus, a complication of traumatic brain injury which can significantly hinder recovery.

"This was treated surgically with a ventriculo-peritoneal shunt on July 9. Other complications associated with severe traumatic brain injury have also been encountered and are currently being treated.

"Since surgery, Mrs. McPhail has been slowly but gradually improving. She has recently spoken a few words in response to questions, but these are currently very inconsistent and difficult to elicit.

"Mrs. McPhail continues to receive comprehensive inpatient rehabilitation therapy This therapy is presently directed toward systematic monitoring and improving her consistency of responses, with the intention of establishing functional communication, and prevention and treatment of complications associated with severe traumatic brain injury

Mississippi team faces elimination in Babe Ruth Series

BY RICHARD MEEK

The Gulf Coast Babe Ruth 16-year-olds team faced elimination Wednesday night in the Babe Ruth World Series being played in Springdale, Ark.

The team, which includes five players from St. Stanislaus and one from Hancock High, lost 10-9 to Staten Island (N.Y.) in a winners' bracket game Tuesday night. They were scheduled to play late Wednesday

Brian Brockhoff of Hancock had two hits, and Justin Gunter of Stanislaus scored a pair of runs against Staten Island.

Mississippi scored a run in the first on Kyle Foster's RBI single and added another in the second on Brockhoff's double that scored Gunter. They added five in the fifth, with Brockhoff getting credit for an RBI when he was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded. Davis added a run-scoring single.

Although the team of car owner Steve Millstead and driver K. I. Davis missed a good portion of the season, they are picking up where they left off. Fresh from a Friday night win in Hattiesburg, Davis claimed the Late Model division of the summer championship at Sun Coast Saturday night.

Mike Ladner, who has enjoyed much success this season, finished second ahead of Billy Joe Schonewitz, who has virtually dominated the Late Model class the past two seasons at the Coast oval. Billy Hashel finished fourth over heat winner Jamie Luzenberg, filling out the top five spots.

Wolves, asking a third-year NBA veteran who is barely legal to drink to live on $17 million a year. How could anyone be expected to survive on $1.43 million a month, or, more exact, $327,000 a week?

of that type of financial freight. Garnett should have thanked Minnesota General Manager Kevin McHale for such a generous offer. Instead, he elected to insult the franchise, and hold out for over $130 million. The Timberwolves said no thanks, and the lame duck Wolf with an attitude will be sent packing come next spring.

But one should not entirely blame Garnett, for his action is only a microcism of what ails professional sports today. Loyalty to a team is taboo, and loyalty to a city that supports these overpriced delinquents is but a chapter somewhere in a history class.

Today's athletes are all about greed, mercenaries selling their marginal talents and dysfunctional personalities to the highest bidder. Perhaps nowhere is this more evident than the NBA.

As the league's popularity has skyrocketed, so have salaries. And the owners need only to look in the mirror for blame.

How could the Los Angeles Lakers justify paying Shaquille O'Neal such Monolopy money when his past shows that he is clearly not a winner, only the product of a suave marketing genius? At rap music, O'Neal may be a hit, but at winning titles of any kind, the Laker center has yet to crack the charts.

Second tier players like Rick Fox and Bryan Williams are demanding, and receiving, contracts former greats such as McHale and Larry Bird could only dream about.

Something is very wrong when a player such as Garnett, long on potential by short on maturity, only walk liway from $100 million. The contract was only for six years, and chances are that it would have been renegotiated before it expired.

Garnett should have accepted the offer, and continued to improve. By the time of his 26th birthday, he could have commanded a starbucks con-tract, the kind of fantasy money only paid to the Dallas Cowboys' legal defense counsel.

Garnett's action had to grate on McHale, one of the league's great overachievers who always gave his best, and who never whined. McHale was always in the thick of a rebounding battle with trademark elbows flying, and not above diving after a loose ball for the good of the team. He was a blue-collar winner. How many McHales are in uniform today? Unfortunately, there are too many O'Neals and Garnetts in the league, using basketball to kill time until their next video or commercial.

worker with the drive of a

The message of rapacity sent by Garnett and other vultures playing professional sports is not lost on the youth of today. They are being taught to pillage a franchise for whatever possible, than move on to the next village. If you're good enough, there's always another team, another idiotic owner willing to pick up your tab.

When will this lunacy stop? Kevin Garnett should be the turning point in an economic road that has taken an unfortunate direction.

Ditka Dialogue

(On his overall observations of the game)

"We talked about it before the game, trying to take a step forward and we didn't. We stood still We really prepared for a lot of what they did. They gave us a little more Bear than we expected. They had to come up with a good defensive effort and play a good game in front of their home fans and they did a god job.

(On Danny Wuerffel's performance)

"Danny's a good player. The more pressure you put on Danny the better he performs. Nothing bothers him. You don't know if it is a bad play or good play. His expression does not change. I don't know if I have ever been around anybody like that.

• (On some of the breakdowns in the game)
"There was some good things in the game, but there was some inconsistency. The kicking game, there is no reason for the blocked punt, they were not even rushing the punter. The guys have to realize that its only one play in every football game or five plays in every football game that really make a difference. We work on that technique a hundred times.

• (On third down situations(

"We had to many third and long situations. We have to be more effective in throwing the ball when they bring the safeties up. We didn't execute very well at times. We need to improve in that area."

• (On Rickey Jackson's performance)

"In the defense we play, it's going to be hard for Rickey to stand out unless we blitz them every down and we just don't do that. We p lay a team concept on defense and we play it pretty darn well.

Players Postgame

"We have to keep working. We didn't do what we needed to do today to go forward but I don't think we went backwards. We played pretty well with the bitzing but I don't think we ran the ball well.

WR Andre Hastings

"We made a lot of mistakes but we were still in the game. We were just as physical as they were. I don't think we are exactly ready for the regular season because we are playing so many guys, I don't think everybody is completely ready for the regular season. We will definitely be ready for the season when it is time."

CB Danny Wuerffel

"You are always grateful to get an opportunity to play. To get out in the beginning of the second hald and have the game on the line was real exciting. Everybody really came together on those two scoring drives. The line really wanted to get it done and the running backs were running really hard. When you get everything going together good things will happen. They brought a lot of stuff at us during the game which is really good during the preseason to get us ready for looks that we will see in the regular season. We did some good things out of them and we did some bad things but we will just have to learn from those looks."

OB Heath Shuler

We can learn from these experiences and the loss, but more importantly we've got to bounce back to play a game on Friday night. Our attitude is that we want to get off to a good start and we want to get that first score.'

Radio/TV

The contest will be broadcast by WWL-TV with Sports Director Jim Henderson calling the play-by-play, and former Saints quarterback Archie Manning supplying the expert analysis.

The game can also be heard on the Saints flagship, WWL Radio (870 AM) and a network of affiliates in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. WGNO-TV Sports Director Ed Daniels and veteran sportscaster Ken Trahan will describe the action. The pregame show, hosted by WWL's Buddy Diliberto, begins two hours prior to kickoff. WWL's Kenny Wilkerson will moderate the postgame locker room segment.

WFNO-AM 830 will supply the game to the Hispanic Community with Hector Pineda and Marco Garcia calling the action beginning at 7:15 p.m. (CT).

Next Week

The Saints travel to St. Louis to open the 1997 regular season against the Rams Sunday, Aug. 31. It marks the first time in the league's history that the NFL season begins in the month of August. Kickoff from Trans-World Dome is 12 p.m. (CT). It marks the second consecutive year that the Saints have opened the regular season on the road. New Orleans closed the 1996 season at St. Louis, falling to the Rams, 14-13, Dec. 21.

Chicago opens the 1997 regular season against the Green Bay Packers on Monday Night Football Sept. 1 at Lambeau Field

What to look for in 1997

"The Saints can extend their consecutive games scoring streak of 209. The last time they failed to score was in the 14th game of the 1983 season, when they dropped a 7-0 decision to the Patriots in New England Dec. 4. If the Saints score in each of their first nine games, they will move past Oakland for fourth all-time, and with scores in each of their first 10 games, they will move past Dallas,

"Defensive Tackle Wayne Martin can extend his consecutive games started streak of 96, a club standard. Martin has appeared in 123 career games with the Saints. If Martin appears in all 16 games, he would move into 12th place in all-time games plays.

"Martin's career sack total of 64.5 is third on the Saints' all-time chart and first among linemen. Martin needs 12.5 sacks to move past Pat Swilling into second place all-time. Martin has recorded double-digit sacks for three straight years and four out of the last

"Comeback Eric Allen has played in 113 consecutive league games dating to 1989, and started 101 straight dating to 1990. Allen will have started his 150th NFL contest if he starts eight games this season. By seeing action in seven games, he will have participated in his 150th NFL contest.

"Linebacker Richard Harvey (89) can play in his 100th NFL

"If running back Mario Bates leads the Saints in rushing in 1997, he would join George Rogers (1981-84) as the only other player to top the club's rushing chart for four straight seasons.
"If Bates gains 349 yards, he would move ahead of Wayne Wilson (1979-86) into sixth spot all-time on the Saints' rushing chart. With 752 yards rushing, Bates would move into fifth all-time, ahead of Tony Galbreath (1976-80).

Hints for kids in BASSMASTERS casting, pitching, flipping, contest

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The Hancock County BASS-MASTERS will sponsor a kids BASSMASTER CastingKids Competition on Sat. and Sun., Aug. 30-31, and some tips on the competition are offered by Raymond A. Cuevas, Committee chairman.

The competition will give youths ages 7-10 and 11-14 an opportunity to test their casting, pitching and flipping skills, birth dates are based on Aug. 31, 1998. The event is free and open to the public.

The BASSMASTER Casting-Kids Competition will be held in conjunction with the Waveland Civic Association's annual Kids Fishing Rodeo, Festival and Fireworks Display, to be held over the Labor Day weekend in Waveland.

The BASSMASTER Casting-Kids Competition will be at the Coleman Avenue soccer field, located at the corner of Colemen and Central avenues, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and also 4 to 7 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

Cuevas said, "Practice makes a winner!'

A few helpful tips offered by BASSMASTERS CastingKids contest in the competition include:

How to cast - Imagine that the arm holding your rod and reel is the hand of a clock. To cast, bend your elbow so that your rod points to 12 o'clock.

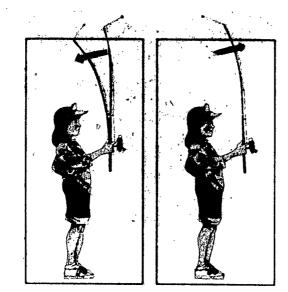

Snap the rod forward using your wrist as you straighten your elbow. Then use your wrist to snap your rod back to 10 o'clock. Snap the rod forward using your wrist as you straighten your elbow. When the rod is pointing 1 or 2 o'clock, release your line.
If your lure goes high into the air without going forward you are releasing your line too soon. If your lure goes low and not very far, then you are releasing your line too late. In competition, your casting target will be 30 feet away.

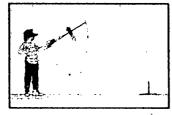

How to flip —Let your line out about 10 feet from the rod tip and engage the reel. With your free hand, grab the line guides by straightening your arm out to the side

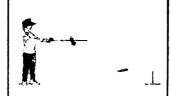

At the same time raise the trato swing back toward you. When the lure swings back to your body, lower the rod to make the lure swing forward. Quickly raise the rod tip again to sue your hand to feed

How to Pitch.....

the line back through the rod guides. The lure should touch down softly in the target area, which will be 10 feet away.

How to pitch —First let our the line until the lure can reach the reel. Hold the lure with your free hand level with your waist. Lower the rod tip and pull the line tight.

Quickly swing the rod tip forward and up toward the target and let go of the lure with your free hand. As the lure passes miderneath the tip of the rod, release the line and continue to raise the tip of the rod. The lure should then fly just above the target and touch down softly 20

The kids will be judged on their casting, pitching and flipping skills. Those who make the national finals will compete against kids their own age for $20,000 in scholarships and prizes, said Cuevas, the Hancock County BASSMASTERS competition chairman.

Each competitor will receive a free BASSMASTER Casting-Kids Certificate of Competition and a copy of the program's official publication, BASSMAS-TER Casting Kids Magazine. Winners at the local level also receive a medallion and a Zebco rod and reel.

Recreational fishing

State's economy makes big catch

The average angler fishing along a river probably doesn't realize this pastime is profitable business in Mississippi and a great use of natural recent statistics The most show that in 1991, anglers spent $236 million to fish in Mississippi, or about $360 per person. This amount includes everything from fishing licenses and bait to equipment, travel expenses and memberships.

Sixteen percent of Mississippians fish each year, compared to 14 percent nationwide.

"Mississippi is a moderately big fishing state," said Dr. Hal Schramm, a fisheries biologist at Mississippi State University. "If categorized as a commodity, recreational fishing would rank among the top five most valuable in the state.'

Bubba Hubbard is a fisheries coordinator in Jackson with the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks. He said good fishing means the waterways are healthy and natural resources are managed

"Recreational fishing can be used as an indicator of a healthy environment," Hubbard said.
"If the fishing is good, you can broadly say the water is good and the lake and watershed are in pretty good shape because it all has to work together."

The MSU Department of Wildlife and Fisheries and the Social Sciences Research Center recently survey licensed anglers in the state for the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Anglers surveyed fish most often to be outdoors, relax and break their routine. Recreational fishing attracts almost 750,000 Mississippians each year from all walks of life Ninety percent fish in freshwater, while 10 percent choose Mississippi has 14,000 miles of streams, 345,000 acres of ponds and 295,000 acres of larger lakes and reservoirs, as well as the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

vide easily accessible, high quality fishing not only for Mississippi anglers, but also for anglers from neighboring states,' Schramm said.

While remaining popular and accessible, the sport is changing some in Mississippi and nationwide.

"The diversity of tackle, the technology that does into fishing, the quality of the boats, and the ease and safety of operation has broadened the scope of fishing," Schramm said.

Fishing, like most other sports, has gotten more hightech with fishing shows on television and information being publicized on the Internet. Equipment such as reels and fish finders have also kept pace with new technology

"As Americans, we use the technology provided to us, and we've seen that true in fishing as well," Schramm said.

But as with other pastimes, fishing sometimes gets crowded out of busy schedules. Schramm said Mississippians today are fishing slightly fewer days than "People just don't have the time to fish," Hubbard said. "They have less time for leisure activities because so many other things occupy their time.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

◆ STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

▶ BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been mislead.

♦ SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include. why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effeetive ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge
